STAT

brings news that you are settled in your new job and have prospects of enjoying it. I hope that it will prove to be something in which you can use both your organizing ability, and your larger view of world affairs.

I would appreciate it if you would see what the score is about me. To bring you up to date: I have submitted the long and arduous forms (tentatively reserving the right to know more about any job I might undertake before signing on the dotted) Second I have had the necessary psychological exams. They were rather amusing. I suppose if they find strong homosexual tendencies in me they will recommend that I apply for work with the State Department.

And that is the sum. At the moment I imagine that I am being investigated, and have not tried to come to Wash. until I had some sort of signal from them. [redacted] was the man with whom I originally talked. He might know the status.

There is still a good deal of checking going on as you suspected and I am not certain yet what the answer is going to be.

Next time you happen to be here, however, it would be a good idea to stop in and see [Redacted] here because he is interested.

It certainly was good to see [Redacted]
[Redacted] Best to you.

Sincerely,
